1915 - 1919

Annual of the Charlotte High
School, Charlotte
North Carolina

DEDICATION

O the members of the Faculty and student-body, who answered the call to the colors, we,
the Class of 'Nineteen, dedicate this Annual. * * * *

FOREWORD

Humbly we replace this book before you, oh Reader, with many hopes and fears. We have labored with might and main to have this War and Peace issue of SNIPS AND CUTS representative not only of the High School as it is today, but also prophetic of the High School as it shall grow to be. You will find faults thru the book, just as you would find tares in any wheatfield; but we beg of you—be lenient! Judge us by whatever there may be of the wheat variety in our work, and overlook our literary tares. We gratefully acknowledge the enthusiastic aid the underclassmen have given us in making this Annual a financial success. We thank Mr. Sam Craver for the opportunity he gave us to show our business zeal; we heartily recognize the material assistance rendered us by our friends thruout the city; we appreciate the wonderful support of Miss Downs and Miss Jessie—theirs have been the hands held out to guide us thru the darkness of our editorial path; and then, too, we would not forget our classmates, who have worked with a will to make our dream of a 'Nineteen SNIPS AND CUTS a reality.

SENIORS

OUR MASCOT

Here's to our dear little mascot, Jack Doar!
We wish him all happiness, and days many more.
Some day perhaps he in our places will stand,
And receive a diploma from somebody's hand.

SENIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

WILLIAM JAMES YATES President

MARY BREVARD ALEXANDER Vice-President

FANNIE MICHAEL FURLOW Secretary

WILLIAM LILLYCROP Treasurer

ANNA RUTH ANTHONY Class Poetess

MARGARET LOUISE BEDELL Class Historian

WILLIAM KNOWLTON HARDING Class Lawyer

FANNIE MICHAEL FURLOW Class Prophetess

WALTER WILLIAMS HOOK Class Orator

ENOLA LILLIAN ABERNATHY

Height, 5 feet, 8 inches; Weight, 110 pounds; Age, 18 years.

ENOLA ABERNATHY? Just look in the census, and see how the Senior Class regards her—the most affectionate; and just so you will find her. ENOLA is a friend indeed to us all. No matter how tired and disheartened we are, she always has a kind and encouraging word for us.

"Man delighteth me not."

MARY BREVARD ALEXANDER

Height, 5 feet, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches; Weight, 144 pounds; Age, 17 years.

Truly a wonderful girl in this MARY BREVARD ALEXANDER! VARDY is just an all-round girl, with an ever-smiling countenance and a jolly disposition. She's a regular "shark" in English, and has such a wonderful power of expression that be her theme some of the deep thoughts of Shakespeare or the light, airy description in "L'Allegro," she is equally at ease; and we wonder if she possesses some peculiar hidden power, or is indeed inspired of the gods.

*"This world's no blot for me
Nor blank; it means intensely;
To find its meaning is my meat and drink."*

Captain Freshman Basket-Ball, 1916; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1916-'17; Vice-President of Class, 1917-'19; Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19, Treasurer, 1917, Secretary, 1918; Member Girls' High School Club, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Member Social Service Committee, 1916, Sub-Treasurer, 1917, Vice-President, 1918, President, 1919; Reporter for Tattler, 1916; Dramatic Club, 1917; Chief Marshal, 1918; Editor-in-Chief of SNIPS AND CUTS, 1919.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Member Girls' High School Club, 1918.

ANNA RUTH ANTHONY

Height, 5 feet, 5 inches; Weight, 98 pounds; Age, 16 years.

When you say "dependability," RUTH pops into my mind, for she is the very personification of it. You cannot get the marks she gets day in and day out without being dependable and brainy. And she is both those things—and then some.

"Here is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother."

JENNIE JOSEPHINE BARNHARDT

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 135 pounds; Age, 17 years.

A flash of white teeth, a soft chuckle, and a glimpse of a dimple, with a pair of laughing brown eyes, and behold "JOE" BARNHARDT. That chuckle of hers is an art that only Mother Nature could have taught her. If you like a person who always laughs at the right time—here she is.

*"A comrade blithe and full of glee,
Who dares to laugh out loud and free."*

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Member Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18-'19; Chairman Social Service Committee, 1918-'19; Class Poetess; Triangular Debate, 1919.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19.

MARGARET LOUISE BEDELL

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 128 pounds; Age, 16 years.

Have you heard her squeal? It's catching, too. She'll have the whole Class giggling first thing you know. No, she didn't mean to upset things, for she's very conscientious; but she's blessed (or is it cursed?) with a sense of humor—and a squeal.

"Sincerity is the most compendious wisdom."

JAMES HERRON BEATY

Height, 5 feet, 4 inches; Weight, 124 pounds; Age, 16 years.

He's generally either just coming or just going—elusive, shall we say? He has a decided talent for commercial art, and when we need a poster we are pretty apt to yell for HERRON.

"Obscure life sets down a type of bliss."

Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, Supervisor, 1916-'18, Treasurer, 1919; Class Historian; Member Choral Club, 1915-'16-'17-'18; Soprano in Quartet, 1915-'16; Member Girls' High School Club, 1919.

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17; Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18.

BEULAH EVALINE BOGER

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 121 pounds; Age, 16 years.

An artist. And really, if she keeps on with her study of Art, we'll expect big things—and when we look at that chin we are sure she'll keep on. If she didn't have such a good disposition, maybe she wouldn't get teased so much.

"The fruit derived from labor is the sweetest of pleasures."

BENNIE MAY CUNNINGHAM

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 124 pounds; Age, 18 years.

When you say "a jolly good fellow," and mean every single syllable of it, you have a fairly good description of BENNIE MAY. She's the kind that cheers one up when one has the blues, because she has set for herself a mark, and she's going to get there, and do it smiling. Does she make you think of a strong handclasp?

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18; Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1919; Member Girls' High School Club, 1919.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917; Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918-'19, Secretary, 1918.

JOHN WOODLEY CHAPMAN

Height, 5 feet, 8 inches; Weight, 133 pounds; Age, 17 years.

He should have been named "Pep" instead of J. WOODLEY—honest, he ought. His brain is "Jazzie", in other words, witty; and he's theatrically inclined; but he upholds the dignity of the Senior Class with honor when he acts as a sub-teacher.

"What Tarheel is this same that deafs our ears with his abundance of superfluous breath?"

MAUDE ELOISE DOXEY

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 130 pounds; Age, 16 years.

You want to give a party, and be sure everybody has a good time? Well, you'd better get ELOISE to help you then—she has a knack of making people enjoy themselves. Yes, right over there—the one with the lovely curls. She'll help you, 'cause she's really accommodating.

"She that walketh uprightly walketh surely."

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Delta Club, 1915-'16-'18-'19; Glee Club, 1915-'16; Sophomore Football Team, 1916-'17; Member Hodd Fellows, 1918-'19.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18; Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918-'19, Critic, 1918, Treasurer, 1919; Member Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18-'19.

LOUIS DANIEL DUVAL

Height, 5 feet, 6½ inches; Weight, 124 pounds; Age, 17 years.

Terribly deep things about watts and kilowatts are an open book to LOUIS, but he'd never tell you about how much he knows, 'cause he's too modest and bashful to do any trombone work. If you know him, you like him, and you'll agree with us in anything we may say about him. If you don't know him, you'd better get busy and find out about him, 'cause he's going to be somebody.

"In skill lies success."

EDNA VIRGINIA ESKRIDGE

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 114 pounds; Age, 16 years.

She just naturally eats work! It's wonderful. Teachers give great long lessons, and while the rest of us are groaning over having to do them VIRGINIA's eyes have brightened and she has gone on and done hers—and done it right, too! She's almost always diabolically right!

*"Whose life was like the violet, sweet,
As climbing as the jasmine, pure."*

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18; Member of Football Squad, 1918.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Basket-Ball, 1915-'16.

FANNIE MITCHELL FURLOW

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 135 pounds; Age 17 years.

Class spirit? Now you've said something. FANNIE has got more Class spirit than 'most anybody I know. It isn't the Class spirit that just sits back and says "Rah, rah, Class of 'Nineteen," and stops there; it's the kind that gets out and works to make other people say "Rah, rah! Class of 'Nineteen." What more can one say?

"Give me a place by the side of the road and let me be a friend to man" (or men).

HELEN KATHERINE FRICKER

Height, 5 feet, 3 1/2 inches; Weight, 100 pounds; Age, 18 years.

Why is it that the nice, quiet, dreamy, brown-eyed ones always play the piano so well? They always do; and HELEN isn't an exception to the rule. Of course, there are pianists and pianists; but she is the real thing. If you've ever heard her, you'll agree with us.

"She that diligently seeketh good, procureth favor."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918-'19, Vice-President, 1918-'19; Secretary Junior and Senior Class; Social Editor of SNIPS AND CUTS; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1917-'18; Class Prophet; Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18-'19; Chairman of Program Committee, 1918-'19.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19, Vice-President, 1919; Member Girls' High School Club, 1918-'19.

GEORGE G. FARRINGTON

Height, 5 feet, 11½ inches; Weight, 130 pounds; Age, 17 years.

"Repetez-vous, s'il vous plait, Monseieur!"

"You talk so all-fired fast, George, how do you expect anybody but a real Frenchie to keep up with you? Don't you ever descend to speak your mother tongue?" we are apt to say when GEORGE gets started talking his beloved French; and sometimes we flatter ourselves that, if we talked it as constantly as he does, we could do it as well as he; but I doubt it.

"Describe him who can."

MARGARET LOUISE GILBERT

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 115 pounds; Age, 18 years.

Like a shadow she would pass, and one would never know the sweet strength one was missing in letting her pass, if some guardian angel did not whisper it in one's ear. She is one of those people whom one has to cultivate; and whose friendship is all the more worth while because of the effort required to obtain it.

"Silence is the perfect herald of joy."

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1915-'16-'17; Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918-'19; Delta Club, 1915-'18-'19; Glee Club, 1915.

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18; Girls' High School Club, 1917.

THOMAS PEGRAM GRAHAM

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 133 pounds; Age, 17 years.

He can do almost anything you want done; and he'll do it, too, as tho he liked doing it. That's the nicest part about it. And he'd give you the coat off his back, with a—"Here, Crumb, take it; I don't want it," and a queer little one-sided smile that he thinks doesn't show his dimple, that'll make you his friend for life. Such an one is TOM.

"A good enough old fellow."

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18; Delta Club, 1916-'17; Baseball, 1919; Football, 1917; Basket-Ball, 1918-'19; Hodd Fellows, 1918-'19.

WILLIAM KNOWLTON HARDING

Height, 5 feet, 10½ inches; Weight, 135 pounds; Age, 18 years.

This calculating looking young man is BILL HARDING. He's looking at you, but he sees a cartoon. His pet occupation is cartooning himself, so you needn't feel badly about his practicing a little on you. He's a wizard at it. But that isn't all he can do; his brain is just chuck full of original ideas, and he's going to revolutionize some of our staid methods of doing things some of these days.

"True wit is nature to advantage dressed."

Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19; Delta Club, 1917-'19; Art Editor of SNIPS AND CUTS; Class Lawyer; Triangular Debate, 1919.

WALTER WILLIAMS HOOK

Height, 5 feet, 10½ inches; Weight, 140 pounds; Age, 16 years.

When WALTER goes into anything, you may count on his going into it wholeheartedly, and you may be sure you will have his full co-operation. Even in the myriad of things he is doing now, the things that make one's schooldays so full, he is definitely moving towards his goal. He is going to be an architect, and he will talk the planning of buildings with you at a great rate.

*"These flashes on the surface are not he,
He has a solid base of temperament."*

ETHEL HALL

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 125 pounds; Age, 17 years.

She reminds us more of a hen with one chicken than anything we can think of just now—my, but she adores Grace! It's nice to see them together (and did anybody ever see them apart?), because they fairly breathe contentment. ETHEL is the essence of freshness, from her blooming cheeks to her perfectly spotless skirt's hem, and her mind is just as neat and orderly as her clothes.

*"As welcome as sunshine in every place,
So the beaming approach of a good-natured face."*

Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19; President Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1919; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1919; Secretary Delta Club, 1919; Marshal, 1918.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19.

CORDELIA HENDERSON

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 122 pounds; Age, 17 years.

Does she make everybody step? "I'll say she does." She's the original "rag" queen. Nobody can play it quite so well as "DE." She just naturally walks all over a piano, and if you can keep your feet still while she's doing it, you can do more than the Senior Class can.

*"With thy keen joyance,
Languor cannot be;
Shadow of annoyance
Never eame near thee."*

CONSTANCE KING

Height, 5 feet, 4 inches; Weight, 98 pounds; Age, 16 years.

Tell me there's not anything in a name? I know better! Take CONSTANCE KING for example—did anybody ever hear of her falling down with anything she undertook, from lessons on down? I guess not; she lives up to her name.

"A countenance in which did meet, Sweet records, promises as sweet."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1919, Supervisor; Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19; Member Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18-'19, Vice-President and Chairman of Membership Committee, 1918-'19, Member of Cabinet, 1918-'19.

WILLIAM LILLYCROP

Height, 5 feet, 5 inches; Weight, 130 pounds; Age, 18 years.

We could gather up all the nice, solid-sounding adjectives, and pile them on WIL-LIE, and they'd all be true; but you wouldn't have the least conception of what he's really like. Sometimes we don't think we really know him ourselves. We all admire WIL-LIE, but we wonder if he admires us?

"Business before pleasure."

EDGAR LEE LOVE

Height, 5 feet, 5½ inches; Weight, 130 pounds; Age, 17 years.

If he was not so bent and determined on going into the army, we would expect to see him a second Rockefeller in just no time at all; 'cause he is quite a business man. But as he insists on going into the army, we'll expect him to be a general, as he is a real live wire.

"The force of his own merit makes his way."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, President, 1918; High School Representative to Trinity in December Contest; Vice-President Delta Club, 1918-'19; President, 1919; Business Manager SNIPS AND CUTS, 1918-'19; Treasurer Class, 1918-'19.

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, Vice-President, 1919; Treasurer Delta Club, 1918-'19; Assistant Business Manager SNIPS AND CUTS, 1919; Member Hodd Fellows Club, 1918-'19; Sophomore Football, 1916-'17; Marshal, 1918; Manager Charlotte High School Scrubs, 1919.

CHARLES ALLEN MOORE

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 132 pounds; Age, 15 years.

He's all boy; and he looks the part! When you see his laughing brown eyes, above a mouth which is vainly trying to keep from smiling too, you give a mental "Hm-m-m! There's mischief lurking there," and immediately find yourself thinking of balls and bats and fishing rods, and all the things that a wide-awake boy is known to love. And you find yourself understanding perfectly why it is impossible for ALLEN to keep his hands and feet still for five full minutes on a stretch.

"Thy modesty's a candle to thy merit."

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Sub. Football, Basket-Ball, Baseball teams, 1917-'18; Captain Varsity Football; Basket-Ball Team, 1918-'19.

EDWINA CHADWICK MORETZ

Height, 5 feet, 5 inches; Weight, 113 pounds; Age, 17 years.

Of course, you've seen people who always appear just the least little bit surprised, regardless of what you tell them. They have an air that seems to say "Why, I never heard of that before!" These are people that it's a pleasure to run across in this blasé day; and EDWINA belongs in that class. She doesn't raise her eyebrows and look questioningly blank, as I'm afraid some of us would do if we attempted it; but she seems to be interestedly considering something for the first time. It's most attractive. Watch her, and see if you don't think so.

"Nor knowest thou what argument Thy life to thy neighbor's creed hath lent."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18; Member Girls' High School Club, 1919.

SADIE BELLE MILLER

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 98 pounds; Age, 17 years.

SADIE BELLE is very "petite," with a crown of heavy brown hair, which she is perpetually arranging and re-arranging. One is apt to use the word quaint in its original sense when describing her. She has unusually clear-cut ideas of what is necessary, and she simply will not tolerate inexactness in anything.

"If to her share some female errors fall, Look on her face, and you'll forget 'em all."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19.

EDWARD LANE MARTIN

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 136 pounds; Age, 17 years.

He can look ferocious when he wants to, I grant you that; but funny—oh, ye gods and little fishes!—he's a scream! He's a real comedian; and they're certainly rare these days. But he doesn't stop there, he keeps right on, and is the best athlete Charlotte High School has turned out this year. When it comes to basket-ball, Ed.'s right there.

"Like a strong man, he runneth a good race."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1915-'16-'17; Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18; Delta Club, 1917-'18-'19; Varsity Baseball Team, 1918-'19; Captain Senior Class Basket-Ball Team, 1919; Varsity Basket-Ball Team, 1919; Delta Club; Vice-President Hodd Fellows Club, 1918-'19; Secretary Janizaries, 1917-'18.

MARY ELIZABETH MCKNIGHT

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 114 pounds; Age, 16 years.

Isn't it interesting? Our curiosity is all worked up over it. Just exactly how much does that frat. pin MARY wears mean? We all have our suspicions and our theories, but it would be a great relief to some of us if we could know the facts. It's absolutely maddening the way she wears it, day in and day out, with that same inscrutable smile of hers.

"A happy disposition is a prism that deflects the blue rays."

EDGAR HAROLD MCCORKLE

Height, 5 feet, 2½ inches; Weight, 112 pounds; Age, 16 years.

He certainly is an animated question mark, there's no doubt about it. But the question in our minds is—does he ask all of those questions for information, or just in the hope of getting up an argument? There! This is just full of questions and question marks; but when you think about EDGAR, your mind just naturally gravitates to that form of expression—you see, he has a personality.

"This little body lodges a mighty mind."

Member Girls' High School Club, 1919;
Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18.

Member Delta Club, 1915-'16-'17-'18-'19;
Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Triangular Debate, 1919.

ISABEL McLAUGHLIN

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 111 pounds; Age, 17 years.

She's just about to do it. Look at her! We wish she would, 'cause then you would understand what we mean when we say she has the most spontaneous laugh in the world. It's absolutely fascinating the way it runs up the scale, and you absolutely never know when it's going to break out.

*"Happy am I, from care I'm free;
Why aren't they all contented like me?"*

MAURICE NIEMAN

Height, 5 feet, 11 inches; Weight, 145 pounds; Age, 18 years.

He's a living mystery, a walking enigma, and "a bird on the wing." What he's thinking, where he's going (he's always wandering around like a floating island, with no apparent destination), and what he's going to do next, are three things that are continually in your mind when he happens to drift across your path. This unusual person piques your curiosity until we have often longed to shake him until he explained himself to our full satisfaction. And he's aggravatingly slow, too; if you're late for a class, and in an awful hurry, you're sure to see MAURICE loitering thru the halls, singing to himself—he has a good voice.

"There's no art to find the mind's construction in the face."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19, Treasurer, 1918.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18.

ALBERT SUMMEY ORR

Height, 6 feet; Weight, 143 pounds; Age, 17 years.

"I should worry," applied to anything in the world, would about strike the keynote of AL.'s disposition. As they say in "Seventeen," he's certainly "indifferink." He rambles along, enjoying himself outrageously, and apparently doesn't give a hang whether Troy falls or not. But this is only the outer shell, and we are not willing to believe that AL., underneath it all, doesn't care whether school keeps or not.

"Why should he study, and make himself mad?"

FRANK PHILLIPS

Height, 5 feet, 10 inches; Weight, 135 pounds; Age, 18 years.

He wants to be like some foreigner with an unpronounceable name who has risen to fame in the scientific world; and we're willing to bet ten to one that he'll get there, too. Never has anyone seen such dogged determination, such marvelous perseverance as FRANK has. Not often is one blessed with such ability to stick as he is, and never is one blessed with it for naught. He will rise, and rise high, because of it; and when he has reached the top of the ladder, the rest of us will look up and say "He deserved it, all right!"

"He that never gives up, finally succeeds."

Treasurer Sophomore Class; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1918-'19; Senior Class Basket-Ball; Captain Varsity Basket-Ball, 1919; Marshal, 1918; Hodd Fellows' Club; Baseball, 1919.

Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18.

LUCILLE PIPER

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 103 pounds; Age, 18 years.

LUCILLE is "even as you and I"—she is neither stupid nor brilliant; she is just an ordinary, healthy, happy girl, whom everybody likes. She is neither very talkative nor yet very quiet, and her work is quite up to standard. In other words, we think she makes altogether an agreeable and satisfactory classmate.

*"For she with kindness is blest,
And there is no one she offends."*

GRACE OCTAVIA REDFERN

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 98 pounds; Age, 16 years.

GRACE looks like a pretty little Dresden doll. Her hair is light, her eyes are blue; her skin is the pink and white of a baby's, and she is about the daintiest little piece of humanity you've ever seen. No wonder Ethel loves to be with her so—it fairly makes one feel fresh and brisk to come into the room where she is. Sometimes, when we are all spotted and begrimed, at the end of the day, and see GRACE looking as if she has just stepped out of a bandbox, we feel that it's a crime for anybody to be that neat.

"If happiness were for sale, no one could buy it."

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18;
Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18.

GEORGE NICHOLSON RHODES

Height, 5 feet, 11 inches; Weight, 145 pounds; Age, 16 years.

Oh, the way he does make the feminine part of the student body's heart flutter! And it has been whispered that the faculty is not totally immune; so you see "Nick" is quite "a ladies' man." We think perhaps one reason that he appeals to femininity so much is that he is never in too big a hurry to stop and chat pleasantly with the young ladies. So, boys, if you would be quite irresistible to the weaker sex, take this young Chesterfield for your model, and you can't go wrong.

"Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die."

EVA MAY RYMER

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 118 pounds; Age, 18 years.

Someone must have presented her with a large placard in her early youth, with "Children must be seen and not heard" on it. If they did, she certainly took it to heart, 'cause she absolutely was never known to speak without being spoken to first. What she's thinking about all the day long, as she sits there watching us and not saying a word, is a mystery that we would like someone to clear up. Does she like us? If she does, she doesn't intend to tell us so, evidently.

*"Mine honor is my life; both grow in one;
Take honor from me, and my life is done."*

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18; Delta Club, 1918-'19.

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17.

BLANCHE ROBERTS

Height, 5 feet, 4 inches; Weight, 130 pounds; Age, 17 years.

She doesn't say much, but you know she's there, 'cause she's a wide-awake looking person. One feels that those big, blue eyes of hers aren't missing one little teeny-weenty thing. We sometimes wonder what she thinks of all the things those same eyes see. Look at her again, and see if she doesn't make you think of a nice jolly cherub. We just knew you'd think so too; 'most everybody does.

*"Thy brows are arched, open, kind,
And come like a clear, clear sunrise to my mind."*

FLORENCE VIOLA SMALL

Height, 5 feet, 2 inches; Weight, 105 pounds; Age, 16 years.

She has a very real talent for recitations, and we all hope that she will go on cultivating it. Especially is she gifted in handling humorous ones—she is irresistibly funny when she gives one of this type. But this is not where her talents cease; on the contrary, this is just the prelude. She can talk at all hours of the day or night, at great length, on any subject under the sun—and she has the most perfect control of her eyes that I've ever seen; and by the way her eyes are brown.

"I do profess to be no less than I seem."

GERTY SECHREST

Height, 5 feet, 4 inches; Weight, 125 pounds; Age, 17 years.

We'll tell you a secret—that wonderful color of GERTIE's is the real thing. Unlike the most of the roses we see adorning young ladies' cheeks nowadays, hers didn't come out of a box. If you don't believe us, she'll prove it to you by scrubbing her face with a handkerchief, and then submitting the handkerchief for your inspection. And one likes to keep her laughing all the time, just to catch a glimpse of her lovely white teeth. She is certainly blest.

"Where there is a will, there is a way."

FRANK STANCILL SAMONDS

Height, 5 feet, 9½ inches; Weight, 145 pounds; Age, 18 years.

It takes FRANK about a half-hour to say anything, but when he says something it is worth waiting to hear. As has been said of the Saxons, "he has good hard common sense, if he has long enough to think." We know FRANK's farm will be one of the show places of the State, 'cause with his scientific farming he will be sure to have banner crops every year.

*"The greatest truths are simplest,
And so are the greatest men."*

Girls' High School Club, 1919; Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918-'19.

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1918.

CARRIE ELIZABETH SPRINGS

Height, 5 feet, 8 inches; Weight, 120 pounds; Age, 16 years.

CARRIE is an appealing young person. Now, don't misunderstand us, she is not an exponent of the "clinging vine" theory—quite the contrary, she is fully capable of standing on her own feet; and yet she appeals to us. She appeals to us as only a pretty young girl can who has an air of innocence, an air of seeing the world freshly, if you know what we mean.

"She wears the face of beauty with a smile."

Secretary Bill Davis Literary Society, 1919; Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1918; Member Girls' High School Club, 1919.

ROBERT EDWARD SESSOMS

Height, 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches; Weight, 140 pounds; Age, 18 years.

BOBBY goes about enjoying himself, and is utterly human. He sings well, plays baseball well, learns with ease, and is thoroughly "a boys' boy." He enjoys everything he goes into, and is generally found in the thick of things, so life is not dull for him. He's apparently inclined to be a little skirt-shy just at present, but in course of time that will wear off. The girls do not seem to mind, anyway, and like him just as much as the boys do.

"A man of ideas, and ability to execute them."

Vice-President Bill Davis Literary Society, 1917-'18; Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1918-'19; Delta Club, 1917-'18-'19; Secretary Hodd Fellows Club, 1918-'19; Senior Basket-Ball, 1918-'19; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1918-'19; Delta Club Basket-Ball, 1919; Captain of Baseball, 1919.

EDITH HARRIET SHEPPARD

Height, 5 feet, 8 inches; Weight, 136 pounds; Age, 16 years.

"Sober, steadfast, and demure" will give you a pretty, good conception of EDITH as we know her. She moves among us with dignity and perfect poise, and "looks communing with the skies." Needless to say, all of us respect her, and those of us who know her love her. She makes one think of the saying, "Still waters run deep." You can look at her, and see that she is strong.

*"For the cause that lacks assistance,
The wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do."*

WILBUR MILTON SILVESTER

Height, 5 feet, 9 inches; Weight, 125 pounds; Age, 16 years.

He grins in the morning when he first comes to school; he grins in the middle of the day when the spirits of the rest of us are beginning to lag; and he grins at the end of the day, where the rest of us are "all in." In fact, he is a good example of "the smile that won't come off." And that's all he does, as far as anybody can see, except frisk about a bit. His disposition, tho, is worth a million dollars.

*"One who laughs at his work, and laughs at his play,
And has a good time the whole livelong day."*

Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18-'19;
Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18; Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1919.

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1915-'16-'17.

KATHERINE SHELTON

Height, 5 feet, 5 inches; Weight, 127 pounds; Age, 16 years.

Do you remember the last time it rained really hard, how when the sun had come out again you raised your face to let the clean fresh breeze blow full into it? And you breathed deeply of it, and went on your way saying, "My, what a glorious day!" Well, KATE is like that breeze to us—there is something invigorating and wholesome about her that makes one say, "My, what a glorious girl!"

"She carries decided judgment within her in the most unobtrusive way."

MARY ELIZABETH WASHBURN

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 119 pounds; Age, 18 years.

It's hard to decide whether wholesome or sweet is the correct term to apply to her, but we'll just tell you the kind of person she is, and let you decide for yourself. She's just the happiest, most companionable person you've ever seen—a person who can understand when you tell her things; will talk seriously with you, and will laugh with you. Put together some wavy light hair, sparkling blue eyes, pink cheeks where dimples play hide and seek, and flashing white teeth, and you may have some idea of what she looks like. And we've decided she's both wholesome and sweet.

*"Blue were her eyes as the fairy flax,
Her cheeks as the dawn of day."*

Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, Treasurer, 1917; Girls' High School Club, 1919; Marshal, 1918.

Bill Davis Literary Society, 1919; Freshman Basket-Ball.

KATE JACKSON WALKER

Height, 5 feet, 6 inches; Weight, 137 pounds; Age, 17 years.

KATE is more "grown up" in her bearing than most of us. She has a brisk, quiet, womanly way of doing things that is very pleasant to watch, and she is decided—hasn't the flabby, "wishy-washy" brain that the last century was inclined to attribute to women. She is a typical up-to-date woman, thoroly feminine in all that the word originally implied; and thoroly efficient.

"I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment."

Member Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1917-'18-'19.

CORNELIA WEARN

Height, 5 feet, 7 inches; Weight, 139 pounds; Age, 16 years.

CORNELIA is a good old scout! She's the kind of person you do things with when you want to enjoy yourself immensely. You should hear her root at a game, and you should see her play a game herself—she does it whole-heartedly! It's a real treat to hear her talk, too; she has the most unusual drawl—it's most attractive!

"With health, happiness, and wisdom, life is one continuous success."

Member Girls' High School Club, 1916-'17-'18-'19; Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, Treasurer, 1917-'18; Basket-Ball, 1916-'17-'18, Captain, 1918-'19; Marshal, 1918; Vice-President Athletic Association, 1917-'18; Comic Editor SNIPS AND CUTS, 1919.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Height, 5 feet, 3 inches; Weight, 118 pounds; Age, 17 years.

Everything ELIZABETH does is well done, and there is never any "to do" about it. She reminds one of a perfectly oiled machine sometimes—the way she every day hands in the required amount of work, correctly done, and on time. And yet, in no machine could there live such a gentle, friendly spirit as ELIZABETH's is. She's a queer mixture of up-to-date efficiency and the gentle lady of "ye olden times."

"There is no limit to a real friend's value."

WILLIAM JAMES YATES

Height, 5 feet, 9½ inches; Weight, 136 pounds; Age, 16 years.

He's an energetic young whirlwind, this WILLIAM YATES. He has all the attributes of aforementioned whirlwind, too; he is noisy, forceful, and destructive (to furniture in particular); but he has many other characteristics beside. His ability to express himself is truly remarkable; his enthusiasm is refreshing, and quite contagious; he has executive ability in an unusual degree; his voice is very good, and his good humor is proverbial, and he has been known to see a joke some six months after it was told.

"True-hearted, whole-hearted, faithful, and true."

Member Bill Davis Literary Society, 1916-'19; Member Girls' High School Club, 1917-'18.

Vice-President Junior Class; Member of Alexander Graham Literary Society, 1916-'17-'18-'19, President, 1918; President Senior Class; Marshal, 1918; Sophomore Football; Varsity Football and Baseball, 1918-'19; Vice-President and Chairman Social Committee; Delta Club; Athletic Editor SNIPS AND CUTS; Glee Club.

SAMUEL HERBERT YOUNGBLOOD

Height, 5 feet, 11 inches; Weight, 150 pounds; Age, 17 years.

He's a solid-looking young citizen, and is always well dressed. We can well understand why he is so solid-looking, because he is perpetually devouring something. It is really remarkable—his ability to be hungry. And then, too, when one is always in a good humor, one is apt to laugh a good deal, and this is said to add avoirdupois.

"Room! Make way! Hunger commands; my valor must obey."

Treasurer Janizaries, 1917-'18.

THE CLASS OF 'NINETEEN

 'WAS many and many a year ago,
In the public school of Charlotte, I ween,
A Class began, whom all shall know
As the Class of 'Nineteen.

We studied reading and arithmetic thru,
Till we all had our records clean;
As all good children are known to do,
Did we, the Class of 'Nineteen.

At last we to High School were sent,
And entered shy little Freshmen—green,
But steadily up the ladder we went,
This Class of 'Nineteen.

And now, as Seniors wise and bold,
We think of the work and fun we've seen
In reaching this, our long-sought goal—
The best Class of 'Nineteen.

So for many and many a year together
We've studied and played, thru thick and thin,
And now we're grieved our ties to sever—
The Class of 'Nineteen.

But nay, we will not say—part!
For tho our faces may no longer be seen,
These days will always be treasured in the hearts
Of the Class of 'Nineteen.

And wherever life hereafter may call us,
Away from friends and away from kin,
We'll always remember, whate'er befall us,
This Class of 'Nineteen.

CLASS HISTORY

IT WAS on a bright September day, some eleven years ago, when a crowd of bright-faced, happy-hearted little children, now the Senior Class of 'Nineteen, were brought by their mothers to enter school. Oh, how important we felt! It was time now, we thought, to lay aside the toys and games of younger days—at least till the newness of school wore off—for now we had to study. All went along just lovely for a time. Everyone was kept busy wondering what would happen next; at first, it was to recite our lessons, and then play, then recite some more, and go home. Yes, and we wondered when we learned to spell our first word if anyone knew quite as much as we. But soon the excitement of the first school days began to wear off, and then our teachers were kept busy making our work interesting, so that there would be no "playing hookey" and "I-am-tired-of-school" complaints.

Well, you see we succeeded, and each year we took another step in climbing the steep road to graduation, finding each time a little more difficulty in planning to have our work and play congenial. On thru the grammar grades we sped. We began each year with new and eager expectancy, and tho probably during the middle of the term we became a little tired, this soon wore away as the time for the long-looked-for vacation drew near.

Then one day, after our long and enjoyable vacation, we entered High School, almost before we knew it. This Freshman year passed with little in our experience foreign to the usual experience of the first-year high-school student. We stood a little in awe of the work ahead of us. Yet, with eyes wide open, desiring not to miss anything, and trying to conduct ourselves in such a way that we might be treated with proper respect, we went joyfully along. My! how bright the world seemed for about three months—for you know there are no examinations every week in high school—but quarterly. And then—oh, the work some of us had to do to pass those examinations! This, of course, was our hardest bump; but when they were all over and passed, we started in with light hearts again, resolving to study a little harder, and not go thru another such week. Except for a few who were bumped a little too hard, and so fell out of the ranks, we all completed our Freshman year, and felt that we were ready to take up our important duties as Sophomores.

So the next fall, bright and early, we met again—this time not as timid little Freshmen, but world-wise and knowing Sophomores. The feeling of "knowing it all" predominated now, altho it suffered a relapse at times when Mr. Graham would come into our class asking his characteristic questions. Usually, after waiting some time, he would have to single out some young lady or gentleman, and say, "Speak a little louder, please." This year the Domestic Science department increased in interest for the girls, as did Manual Training for the boys; and quite proud of the tables and stands were the boys at the end of the year!

Another vacation came and went. September again; and we were back at High School. Our Junior Year was quite eventful. We found we had lost a number of our fellow-classmates, and even those who were left became divided, as some decided that to be expert chemists was more interesting and profitable than to be masters (?) of a dead language. This year also introduced the interesting and yet perplexing subject of geometry, along with the noted Junior-Senior parties; also Mr. Alexander, with his "parley vous Francais," and Mr. Lee, with his beloved Tennyson and Unity, Mass, and Coherence. These two added very much to our esteemed faculty, but in the spring their aid was needed to help teach a greater lesson than these, to a more obdurate class—namely, the Huns.

Now, as for the rest of the acts of the Juniors, the parts played on the athletic field and in the Y. W. C. A., are they not recorded in the SNIPS AND CUTS of 'Eighteen?

All our High School years were flighty rounds of parties and candy pulls, with few lessons sandwiched in between; but now for the fourth time the old High School bell reminded us, after the summer holidays, to gather up our books and begin again. From this time forth the goal—our diploma.

And now, as we approach our journey's end, and this long-sought-for goal, in looking back over the eleven happy, expectant years which have crept by so stealthily, we feel that we would gladly stop this flight of time. For it will soon be time to say farewell to our beloved teachers, who have so patiently counseled and directed us thru our most difficult years at school. We must also say farewell to each other. As this Class goes out into the world, no more as a Class but as individuals, each in his or her way trying to carry out the ideals instilled into us at old Charlotte High School, let us one and all keep ever before us the motto:

*"To thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."*

PROPHECY

OFFICERS' POST
AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION

ARCHANGEL, RUSSIA
September 9, 1926

Dear Constance:

This is the first opportunity I have had to write you since my arrival. I imagine you are wondering what in the world I have been doing, and if Post Argonne is as awful as we decided before I left the States. It isn't awful at all; in fact, it's simply wonderful. Of course, it's very cold, and we have three feet of snow already. Ice skating is the main sport just now, and we surely have lots of good times skating on Dwina River. Every night there are dozens of skating parties from our Post—officers with their wives, daughters, and sisters. It's such fun. By the way, whom do you suppose I accidentally met the other night? One of our old Charlotte High School classmates. You see, the wind was blowing, and we were skating on the farther side of the river. There was a huge fire just beyond the bank, a nice cosy spot. I had been skating, and had gone a little too far, and was naturally half frozen when I at last reached the fire. I sat down on a stump to warm, and felt a bit homesick and lonely. It seems my mind is entirely too prone to wonder back home. I was not alone long, however, as a bunch came up. They were talking and laughing. All of a sudden I decided one of the party laughed terribly familiarly. I looked—stared, I might truthfully say—and guess whom I saw. A tall handsome brunette—none other than Cornelia Wearn. She is also visiting her brother, a popular officer at the Post. I wept for pure joy. No more skating that evening. Talk? I should say we did. Cornelia was as full of news as I; and what she didn't know, I did. We talked of the good old days at Charlotte High School, the Class of 'Nineteen mostly. Cornelia didn't know that Albert Orr had made a name for himself as a comedian, or that Vardy at last became a great actress. I also told her of meeting the Hon. William Yates in New York, and all that he told me of the famous studio of Ruth Anthony and Beulah Boger; of the success of Herron Beaty as a government cartoonist, and his assistant Cordelia Henderson; of my meeting Isabel McLaughlin and her husband on the way over. She couldn't conceive of Isabel's being married, and to a poet, too. I then told her about Isabel meeting Edgar McCorkle, Secretary to the Governor of North Carolina, and of Edgar's valued information concerning some of our long-lost Class. She was so surprised when I told her of our teachers—of Carrie Springs teaching French in the new High School, and of Sadie Belle Miller, Virginia Eskridge, and Edith Sheppard, who are endeavoring to stuff knowledge into the heads of poor unfortunate infants under the principalship of Miss Edwina Moretz. Lucile Piper is married. Yes, she married a wealthy fellow she met at Camp Greene the year we graduated.

Cornelia said that she met Ensign Edgar Love at a dance in Boston, given in honor of the officers and sailors of the ship "Washington", and that she also met Katherine Shelton, who came up to see her husband, who is an officer on the same ship.

It seems that Viola Small has secured a splendid position as a concert reader, and that Kate Walker, Wilbur Sylvester, Tom Graham, and Frank Phillips have entered the field of science, and each is making many interesting discoveries, which doubtless will be of great use to man.

You remember Eva Mae Rhyne, so quiet and unobtrusive? Well, she has taken up kindergarten work with Blanche Roberts, as a teacher.

Willie Lillycrop and Josephine Barnhardt are two of our Class who accepted calls to the foreign mission fields, and are doing great work in Africa and Korea.

Mary Washburn and Bennie May Cunningham are taking special courses in Domestic Science, at Columbia.

It seems that Herbert Youngblood and Louis Duval turned out Methodist ministers. Think of it! I always knew that Herbert and Louis would some day make names for themselves.

Maurice Neiman is a very prominent business man of Chicago, with a branch in Charlotte. Gerty Secrest and Elizabeth Woodward are two of his stenographers in his Charlotte office.

Helen Fricker is also teaching—not in Charlotte, however. I heard that she intended teaching with Louise Gilbert, in Raleigh, next year.

You have surely heard of the cotton firm, Rhodes & Moore, haven't you? They are none other than George Rhodes and Allen Moore, bachelors, and wealthy.

Cornelia said that Edward Martin had become a famous doctor.

Ethel Hall reached the height of her ambition. She and her husband, a wealthy broker, are traveling in Italy. Grace Redfern is with them. You remember Grace as the daintiest and neatest in Class, don't you?

By the way, guess whom I happened to meet in Philadelphia, on my way to New York. Enola Abernathy. She and Mary McKnight are conducting a very select school for girls in one of the suburbs. Enola gave me Eloise Doxey's and Margaret Bedell's Paris address. I found both as fine as ever. Eloise is a famous pianist, and Margaret a popular prima-donna. I told Eloise of your plans to study abroad, and she immediately asked for your address. She is anxious for you to come to Paris and be with her.

Have you heard of Robert Sessom's wonderful reputation as coach at Harvard? That makes three of our Class who have prominent positions in colleges—George Farrington, as professor of French at the University of North Carolina, and Frank Sammonds, professor of Agriculture.

Here we were interrupted by the rest of the bunch, who were also cold. Cornelia and I reluctantly turned our weary but happy steps towards the Post, planning many more talks and good times this winter.

Who would have thought that things would have turned out as they have? That Cornelia and I would meet after such a long time, and discuss our Class of 'Nineteen? Not only Cornelia and I of the Class of 'Nineteen are here. Woodley Chapman is an electrical engineer, with a first lieutenant's commission. I met him and his wife the next day at a reception. Woodley looks well, and is really handsome; and his wife is very attractive. He had a letter from Walter Hook. Walter is at Rheims. He and his father are contractors for the rebuilding of the Cathedral, and are gaining much fame and prominence.

There, I have written a book. It is getting dark, and Mamma is calling. Charlie always comes in hungry. That's the way with all these brothers, isn't it?

Write me very soon, and don't forget,

P. S.—Ah! I forget to tell you about seeing William Harding in Washington. He is a civil engineer, and is now working in Canada.

FOOTBALL

THE football season of 'Eighteen was attended by a run of hard luck. Difficulties beset the team on every side. The lack of material was disheartening. This year, Charlotte High School lost at the beginning of the season not only the old men of the team, but also our coach, Mr. Ritch. Mr. Ritch had been coaching the Charlotte High School teams for several years on his own initiative and at his own expense. Mr. Ritch's work was unselfish and laudable, and the loss of his support was a hard blow. Then, after overcoming many obstacles, we began to play. In the very first game our captain and right halfback, Allen Moore, broke his collar-bone. As his work was almost indispensable on offense and defense, you can understand the position the team was in. With practically no backing, the team played a few more games before the close of the season. And, altho the season was unsuccessful as regards the number of games won, we consider that, in view of the many drawbacks which we encountered, to put out any sort of a team whatsoever was exceptionally good work.

BASKET-BALL

THE Nineteen-Nineteen basket-ball season was a very successful one. The team this year was an exceptionally fast and plucky one. Much of this was due to the fine material in school, and to the fine work done by Coach Faul in getting the team in good shape. The direction of Captain Orr, and the management of Hook, were of the best. The work of Graham and Martin was the feature of the season; altho the team was an all-star one. The season started with much enthusiasm, and the school backing was good. After playing some local teams, Charlotte High School played Concord Y. M. C. A. here. This was the first big game of the season. Later Greensboro High School and Spencer High School were vanquished on the local Y. M. C. A. floor. Then, after playing Belmont at Charlotte, the team defeated Huntersville on their own floor. A large number of supporters went up to Huntersville in autos, and much is owed to them for the victory. The Spencer game was won in the same way. Greensboro was defeated next, and we entered the Western championship race. The team played Asheville in the preliminaries, at Asheville, and was defeated because the team's long season had made it go stale. The last game of the season was played with Charlotte Y. M. C. A. Altho we failed to win the championship, the season was most successful, as the schedule shows.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM LITERARY SOCIETY

IN 1904, Mr. Harding organized, in the Charlotte High School, a literary society on a nucleus of forty-nine members. Four years later this society was given its name, in honor of Mr. Alexander Graham, who for so many years was the superintendent of the schools. The personnel of its roll now numbers thirty-two, pupils exclusively from the Junior and Senior classes. Formerly, the Sophomores also were admitted.

Altho during this past year the work of the Society has been interrupted by the quarantines, still it has made some progress towards accomplishing its original purpose, namely: that of acquainting its members with the rules of parliamentary law, inspiring in them a spirit of self-confidence, co-operation, and fraternity, and making them familiar with the important questions which arise from the conditions of the times.

Our meetings are held the second Friday in each school month. These have been made most beneficial and enjoyable by the characters of the programs, which have been arranged so as to include debates, declamations, recitations, and musical numbers.

This year, to our Society belongs the distinction of having four of its members chosen to represent the Charlotte High School in the Inter-High School Debate.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM LITERARY SOCIETY

The success of Society work in the High School has been due largely to the fine, enthusiastic spirit, and willingness of the individual members as well as that of the officers to make their Society a representation of the majority, and to make its influence predominate as a live, stimulating factor in High School life.

BILL DAVIS LITERARY SOCIETY

THE Bill Davis Literary Society was organized by the members of the Junior and Senior Classes of the Charlotte High School, in the fall of 1910, and was named for our Principal, Mr. William Barham Davis.

Our meetings are held the third Friday afternoon of each month. Considering the number of interruptions, we have had a most profitable year. Interesting programs have been given, consisting of debates, readings, and music. Not only have we enjoyed our meetings from a literary standpoint, but from a social standpoint as well.

Realizing the importance of fitting ourselves for the varied duties of life, the objects of our Society are to cultivate a correct mode of speaking, and to qualify ourselves by practice for expressing our opinions in public in an easy manner.

Here's hoping that the future members of the Society will derive as much benefit as we have gained this year, and get as much enjoyment from being a member of the Bill Davis Literary Society as we.

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL CLUB

GTHE aim of our High School Club is to give the girls in our High School high standards of living, to teach them the greatness and love of God, and to give them good clean fun. We strive to develop all sides of the High School girls' life.

In our formal meetings this year, we have emphasized Vocations. We have tried to impress the girls with the importance of going to A-grade colleges. Also, to have some definite aim in life before leaving High School. We have had women who have made a success in professions here in Charlotte—teachers, journalists, social workers, and doctors—to tell us of their work and the wonderful opportunities women now have.

We have learned to think of others in our Social Service work. Many pleasant afternoons have been spent sewing on clothes for Belgian refugees, doing work for the Red Cross, and down at the Alexander Home, either helping them mend or holding story-hours. Last fall, when we were quarantined for the "flu," and could not hold regular meetings, we filled Christmas boxes for the "orphan" soldiers overseas. Later on we stuffed great big red stockings with all the nice things Santa Claus brings good boys and girls. We delivered these ourselves to children of the city to whom "Santa Claus" otherwise would have been nothing more than a mere term. We have several shut-ins whom we so enjoy visiting and entertaining by reading to them.

But all our time has not been spent with serious thinking and work. There have been many parties and good times sandwiched between. We started off last fall by giving the Sophs who came into our Club a party. Then came the Faculty Tea, when we got a pleasant glimpse of the social side of our teachers. And that Fancy Dress Party to the Delta Club! Who can forget it? But, oh! that night at the Hostess House, with all the other Departments of the Y. W. C. A.; with Mrs. Bickett's talk on her trip to France. Need I say more?

When our membership campaign came off so successfully, we could not resist having a Banquet for the new girls. So have it we did. And are we sorry? No.

Last, but not least, comes Camp. After being in school all year, nothing is so restful as two weeks spent away from the sweltering heat of the city, and out close to nature. One of the most alluring things at camp is the swimming pool. We also have classes for studying interesting books.

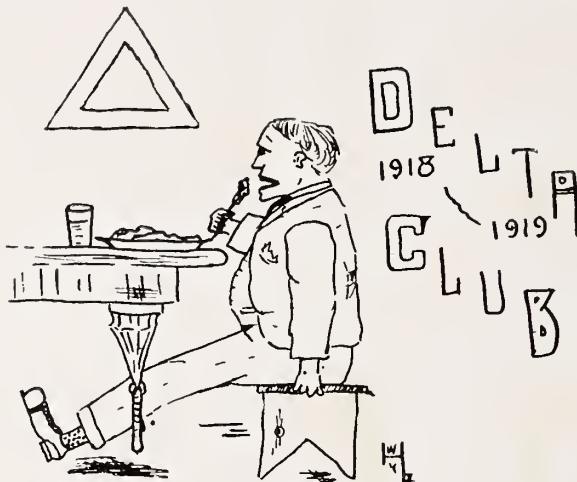

Thus our year comes to an end, and we leave for our long vacations from school.

DELTA CLUB

GHRU the efforts of Mr. David R. Preston and Mr. C. W. Tillett, Jr., the Delta Club was formed some four years ago. The Club is composed of forty-five members, fifteen from each school represented, namely: Charlotte High School, Baird's School for Boys, and Charlotte University School.

The purpose of the Club is to create, maintain, and extend thruout the school high standards of Christian character. The Club also stands for clean sport, clean speech, and clean school life. It teaches the boy to break a bad habit, to form a good one, and to read and understand the Bible.

This year we have had for our leader Mr. John L. Jackson, and we have discussed the problems of school life, and I am sure every boy has been made stronger in spirit, mind, and body, because of his membership in this our Delta Club.

LADY: Make it 2.05, and I'll take it.

WOODLEY CHAPMAN (after Edgar Love has fallen from balcony to first floor of Keith's): Edgar, you had better hurry back up here. It costs ten cents more down there.

MARY MCK.: Do you really think your soldier was true to you while he was away at war?

EDWINA: I have my doubts. On two or three occasions since he came back he has absent-mindedly tried to make love to me in French.

PAT (to Mike on roof) : Don't come down the ladder at the northeast corner; I took it away.

* *

“What effect does the moon have on the tide?”

“None, it affects only the untied.”

CALLER: Is your mother at home?

CHILD OF BUSY WAR WORKER: Goodness, no; she won't be at home today until about Saturday. Why she hasn't got home yesterday yet.

There ain't, so fur as I kin learn,
Another face so sweet like her'n.
All-blushing, an her purty features,
Most beautiful of female creatures.
And men have fit for her and died,
Scandalized their friends beside;
She's made the whole world jump and holler—
That gal upon the silver dollar.

* *

WALTER: Katherine, when are there only twenty-five letters in the alphabet?

KATHERINE: I don't know. When?

WALTER: When U and I are one.

* *

MOTORIST (having killed the lady's pet puppy) : Madam, I will replace the animal.

INDIGNANT OWNER: Sir, you flatter yourself.

“What is all that noise and din?”

“Why, William Yates is coming in.”

JOHN: You say the Crown Prince was at the head of the Germans in the Marne retreat.

JIM: Yes, 'way ahead.

THE RECIPE

Little beams of moonshine,
Little hugs and kisses,
Make the little maiden
Change her name to Mrs.

* *

WILLIAM HARDING: Vardy, tell me how to act the fool. I've got to act the fool in Literary Society.

VARDY: Just be natural, William.

* *

WILLIAM YATES: I was absolutely outspoken in my sentiments at the meeting today.

ED. MARTIN: I can hardly believe it. Who outspoke you?

* *

NEW VERSION OF AN OLD STORY

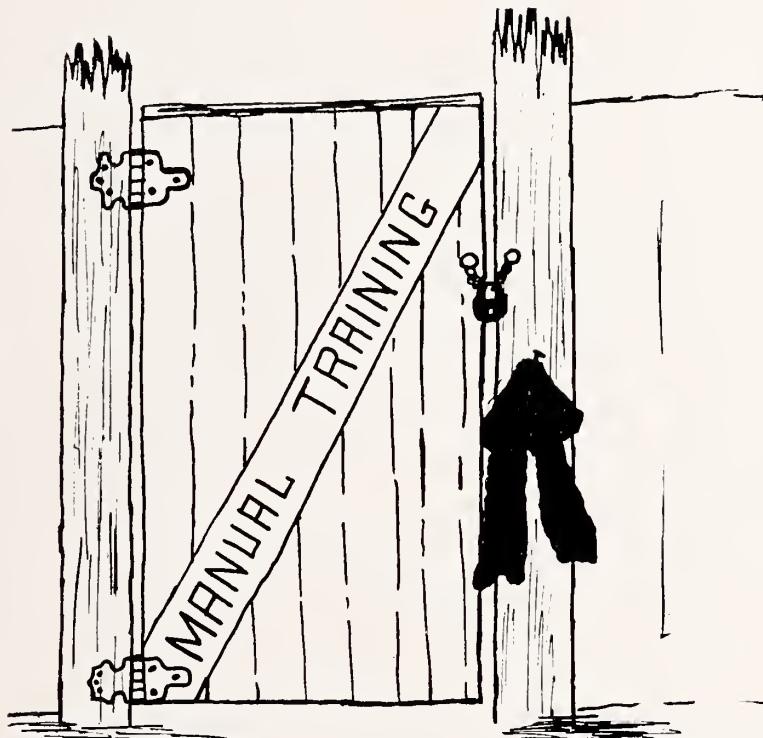

When first he came to see her
He showed a timid heart,
And when the lights were low
They sat this far apart.

But when this love grew warmer
And they learned the joy of a kiss,
They knocked out all the spaces
ANDSATUPCLOSELIKETHIS.

* *

WAITER (hinting for a tip): And how did you find your steak, Sir?

DINER: Oh; I just moved that little piece of potato, and there it was.

Gone-But-Not-Forgotten.

This was all "small" work—cards, envelopes, letterheads, invoices, and the general run of small commercial work—and does not include the product of our cylinder presses, which are kept busy on publication, book, and catalog work.
